"This wine is a rediscovery of an ancient method full of history and terroir that characterized grapes harvested during month of September. After the fermentation in tank at a controlled temperature, the grapes are dried in dedicated rooms called 'fruttai.' The drying process takes 4 weeks to keep the grapes intact, allowing for an optimum sugar level. This slow re-fermentation takes place in large tanks to reach a full, soft, and smooth taste. Intense ruby red with notes of red fruit followed by pleasant spicy notes. Soft and well-rounded with a long-lasting finish."

*Winemaker's notes

"Black cherry, plum, anise. Plush and very flavorful. Finishes with a dusty tannin note. Very good!"
